Program: German Education

B.A. WITH A MAJOR IN A LANGUAGE

Teacher Certification

Through a partnership with the College of Education and Human Development and the Department of Teaching and Learning, students may seek teacher licensure in a language (French, German, and Spanish).

The Department of Modern and Classical Languages and Literatures offers study in Chinese, French, German, Latin, Norwegian, Russian, and Spanish. See Indian Studies 250 and 251 for study of Native American languages of North Dakota. Students may elect Classical Studies, French, German, Norwegian, or Spanish as their major field of study. Minors are offered in Chinese Studies, Classical Studies, French, German, Norwegian, Russian, and Spanish.

Course work is divided into Lower and Upper Divisions. Lower division courses introduce students to languages and cultures. They also satisfy general education requirements, as do select upper division courses. Upper division courses focus on literary, linguistic, theoretical and cultural studies and are taught in the target languages unless otherwise indicated.

The Department encourages study abroad through departmentally approved programs. It is recommended that students who are seeking credit for previous foreign study take the placement test. It also recommends students for various awards for superior academic performance, especially the Arneberg and the Larsen Foreign Travel Scholarships.

The program requires the study of current, appropriate instructional technologies. The program uses varied performance assessments of candidates' understanding and abilities to apply that knowledge.

Students view art, historical & cultural topics via the internet. Documentaries, music, and films are used to discuss literature, culture, art, music and contemporary history. CDs/Video tapes are used to play samples of particular sounds. Students use tape recorders/computers to record oral assignments. Students occasionally have used power point when presenting their final projects to the class.

06010.6, 06015.6, 06020.6, 06025.6, 06035.6

Candidate assessment data are regularly and systematically collected, compiled, aggregated, summarized, and analyzed to improve candidate performance, program quality, and program operations. The program disaggregates candidate assessment data when candidates are in alternate route, off-campus, and distance learning programs.

Languages Department Assessment Process:

The Languages Department does not have a formalized system of recording data for analysis specifically for the Teacher Education component of our assessment plan. The previous instructor retired and the new instructor has not been able to collect three years of data. Our current Departmental Assessment of Major Courses is, unfortunately, in its infancy. The plan calls for the assessment of selected course in each of three areas (language, culture, literature) on a rotating cycle. As a result, only one course for each language has been assessed in the areas of language and culture.

Department of Teaching and Learning Assessment Process:

Data Collection. Data are collected at transition points throughout the program to assess candidate performance, program quality and program operations. The Teaching and Learning Undergraduate Assessment Committee (UGAC) develops an annual schedule for the purposes of data collection. T&L undergraduate faculty who assess critical tasks, staff in the Office of Advising and Admissions and staff in the Office of Field Experience are responsible for submitting data presented in the table below. The UGAC monitors the collection process and follows up in a timely manner when data is missing.

Data Analysis and Reporting. The UGAC is responsible for submitting an annual report to the undergraduate faculty in the Department of Teaching and Learning, the Chair of Teaching and Learning and the Associate Dean for Teacher Education (NCATE Coordinator) based upon a detailed analysis of data collected over the course of the previous year. The Assessment Committee facilitates an annual Assessment Retreat. Faculty discuss the report at the departmental and individual program level and develop a written plan of action designed to address areas of weakness. Should no areas of weakness be found, a written record of faculty discussion leading to this conclusion is created. In between assessment retreats, the UGAC monitors progress in the implementation of the action plan(s). In subsequent retreats, the action plans are revisited and revised in light of the new round of data analysis.

The program requires the study of multicultural education including Native American studies and strategies for teaching and assessing diverse learners.

This response is prepared for all programs approved by ESPB. If you are reviewing an undergraduate or initial program only, please read the sections of this response headed Initial Programs. MULTICULTURAL EDUCATION/NATIVE AMERICAN STUDY

Initial Programs

Opportunity to Address/Meet Standard

T&L 433: Multicultural Education: All candidates in the Teacher Education Program at the University of North Dakota are required to complete this course (There is also a correspondence course with the same prefix and title which is offered to those who are in non-UND programs. Rarely, an exception is made for a candidate in the program who is unable to take the on-campus course.)

Course Description

This class takes an anthropological view of multicultural education. It will help students better understand students in culturally diverse classrooms as well as prepare them to teach about cultural diversity. This class examines several cultures but is particularly interested in American Indians of North Dakota. Those original groups include: Lakota, Dakota, and Nakota, Chippewa, and the three affiliated tribes: Mandan, Hidatsa, and Arikara (see attached sample syllabus TL 433).

Assessments/Results

1. Critical Task: Multicultural Teaching is submitted and assessed in LiveText, an on-line data management system. This Critical Task is a research paper based upon an issue in multicultural education. The paper includes a lesson plan which is assessed to determine candidates' ability to apply what they have learned related to diversity. The task was piloted in the spring of 2007 and assessed formally for the first time in the fall of 2007.

6.6 Teacher candidate's communication skills facilitate partnerships with students, families and colleagues.	15%	52%	32%

Standards 1.3 and 6.6 especially target candidates knowledge and dispositions related to diversity. As indicate in the table 84%-86% of candidates meet or exceed expectations in these categories.

2. Mid-Term Showcase: Candidates work in pairs to create a showcase of a culture that includes engaging hands on learning activities.

3. Native American Reservation Field Trip: The class participates in a field trip, to an American Indian reservation school K-12. Each candidate is expected to write a 3-5 page paper reflecting on the field experience. At a minimum, the student should provide answers to the following questions after the field experience: (a) What does education and learning experiences mean to these students; (b) Is the educational system ensuring that the diverse needs of those students are met?

The field trip reflection assessment rubric covers three areas:

- (a) Focus (i.e. relevant, specific and clear response to the above questions....10 points);
- (b) Perspective (i.e. the student reflects on the field trip from a diverse/multiple perspective...10 points);
- (c) Language/Grammar (i.e., the students uses appropriate diversity terminology/ language as well as correct grammar...5 points).

EFR 506: Multicultural Education: Candidates who have not taken T&L 433 as undergraduates are encouraged to take this course. As described in the catalog the course is a “review of the conceptual, historical, and theoretical aspects of multicultural education. A major goal will be to provide educators with the processes for incorporating multicultural education into their own education environments to meet the needs of their culturally diverse students and to increase the cultural awareness and sensitivity of all students. North Dakota/Native American issues are primary elements of this course” (pg.249). (Also, see attached sample syllabi: EFR 5061; EFR5062).

STRATEGIES FOR TEACHING AND ASSESSING DIVERSE LEARNERS

Initial Programs

Opportunity to Address/Meet Standard

T&L 315: Education of Exceptional Students: All candidates in our Early Childhood Education, Elementary Education and Middle Level programs are required to take this course(see attached syllabus T&L 315).

Course Description: “An orientation course, especially for classroom teachers, stressing the identification, characteristics and educational problems of exceptional children” (college catalog p.184).

TEAM Methods: Candidates in Elementary Education, Early Childhood Education and Middle Level Education take a series of methods related courses that require them to demonstrate an ability to accommodate instruction for students with special needs. Initially, candidates are presented with a case of a virtual student. They view a video and review an IEP and create a lesson plan with accommodations for this student (see IEP of Nathan). Next, candidates complete a 60-hour field experience. They select a lesson for assessment that includes accommodations for one or more students in their field experience setting.

Integration of Special Needs: The secondary education program has developed an integrated approach to guide candidates' knowledge about and skill in teaching diverse learners (see Integration of Special Needs within the Secondary Education Program document).

Assessments/Results

Course Grades

Fall 06 - Spring 07
Course TL 315: Education of Exceptional Students	A	B	C	D	F
N=197	#148 75%	#34 18%	#7 3%	#4 2%	#4 2%

Over 93% of candidates from spring 2006 to fall of 2007 met or exceeded expectations related to the content of TL315 as demonstrated by the percent of A's and B's awarded.

TEAM Methods: Candidates development and implement a lesson plan and during the 60 hour field experience tied to the methods semester that is submitted and assessed in LiveText, an on-line data management system. INTASC Standard 3 and Program Standard 3.1 are assessed to determine candidates' abilities to accommodate all learners needs. Results from fall 2006-spring 2007 are presented in the table below:

ard: 3.2 TAAL INTASC 3 Teacher candidate plans and adapts instruction for individual needs	Not Met	Met	Exceeds
006	6.4%	70.2%	23.4%
g 2007	13.8%	74.2%	12%

During the 2006-2007 academic year 87.2%-94.6% of candidates met or exceeded the standard related to adapting instruction. The faculty reviewed data in May of 2007 and were disappointed in the lower results in the spring semester. It was at this point that the case of Nathan was developed for implementation in the fall of 2007. We hope to see improvements during the 07-08 academic year.

Integration of Special Needs: Candidates development and implement a lesson plan and during the 60 hour field experience tied to the methods semester that is submitted and assessed in LiveText, an on-line data management system. INTASC Standard 3 and Program Standard 3.1 are assessed to determine candidates' abilities to accommodate all learners needs. The Lesson Plan for secondary programs is submitted and scored only in the fall since this is when the methods courses are offered. At the time of this report, no results are available. Results for fall 2007 will be available in the spring of 2008.

Student Teaching Evaluations: Mid-term and final evaluations during the student teaching semester provide additional evidence that candidates in all of our programs address the needs of diverse learners in their classrooms. Cooperating Teachers and University Supervisors complete these evaluations at mid and end term during the student teaching semester. The results for candidates' in the area of exceptionalities in the fall 2006 and spring 2007 are presented in the table below:

INTASC Standard 3: Teacher candidate plans and adapts instruction for individual needs
	Mid Term N = 86				Final N =86

All Programs	0%	30%	58%	12%	0%	10%	75%	15%

As noted in the evaluations 85%-88% of candidates during student teaching are able to adequately address this standard. In addition, 20% of candidates moved from the developing to proficient category by the end of the their student teaching assignment.

Advanced Programs

EFR 506: Multicultural Education: Candidates who have not taken T&L 433 as undergraduates are encouraged to take this course. The emphasis of the course may vary dependent upon the semester. For example, in the summer of 2007 one section of EFR 506 emphasized issues in special education within the context of the multicultural framework (see syllabus EFR 506).

EFR 506: Multicultural Education: Sec3: SU, 2007 N=14	#12 86%	#1 7%	# 0%	# 0%	#1 7%

Other important diversity aspects are part of the curriculum in the required courses of EFR 500: Philosophical Foundations of Education, TL 540: Philosophies and Theories of Curriculum, and TL 542: Models of Teaching. In addition, the candidate is required to take an additional three credits of foundations. Typically, they are advised to take EFR 505: Social Foundations of Education or EFR 507 Gender and Education; in either of these latter two courses, candidates study multicultural education, diversity education, and socioeconomic aspects related to access, equality, and equity.

TL 590 ST: Children's Literature in the Classroom. In this course, candidates in the reading specialist and elementary education advanced programs read multicultural literature and critique literature used in classrooms to determine its resonance with all students. Further, students complete projects which explore Native American Literature. The syllabus for TL590ST states the following goal:

- Expand your knowledge of the wealth of literature available for diverse children in classrooms (NBPTS #2)

The goal is met through reading and discussing articles and children's literature and by assignments. Sample readings and assignments are provided to illustrate candidate experiences.

TL 590 ST: Writing in the Elementary School Classroom. In part this course is designed to increase candidates' ability to effectively teach diverse children to write, respecting development, culture, gender, and individuality. Though meeting a goal such as this is integrated throughout the semester, specific course readings and activities are devoted to the goal. Readings on gender and writing, specifically paying attention to boys, and culturally conscious writing instruction is also addressed. Multicultural and gender-based readings include the following:

- Dworin, J. E. (2006). The family stories project: Using funds of knowledge for writing. The Reading Teacher, 59(6), 510-520.

One artifact supplied to illustrate linguistic/cultural study of writers is a whole class effort to identify ways to support ELLs in the writing classroom. Candidates reviewed numerous books and articles, identified resources, and gleaned specific practical ideas for supporting young writers. The series of charts that evolved from that activity are supplied as an example of the type of learning event that is integrated in the course to learn about supporting multicultural learners in writing.
